William T. Tucker

Born and raised in Texas, Tucker grew up riding, shooting and hunting. His apprenticeship to a saddle maker early in life was the beginning of an appreciation of fine leather and patient craftsmanship.

He served in Vietnam, has served in law enforcement and led horseback hunting parties into the Colorado mountains.

Tucker completed Airborne and Ranger training in the U.S. Army before his tour in Nam. He was also on the Army Marksmanship Unit. Maybe it was the training that kept him alive in Nam. He sure has some stories.....but he doesn't tell them often.

Law enforcement led to more adventures and the pursuit of what worked on the street. He took all the training that was offered and sought out even more. He had plenty of opportunity to test what worked and didn't work, and he now applies that knowledge to his off-duty, concealed-carry and IDPA holsters, belts and accessories.

Tucker combines practical leather solutions with optional decorative and innovative designs for those who want the very best. His customers include FBI, Police Officers and Texas Rangers.

His holsters have been in demand through many Texas gun stores for years. Now, through the internet, Tucker has attracted more satisfied customers from around the United States and Europe, who appreciate fine leather work.

What can he make for you?

Dear Mr. Tucker,

I wanted to express my satisfaction with the "double rig" you crafted for me almost two years ago. I wear this gun belt every day I go to work and its durability is evident. The gun retention is excellent and it allows for a smooth transition from holster to hand. The appearance of the leather has prompted many compliments from other persons and I am often asked where it was made. I recognize the quality of your work and would recommend your leather products to professional officers, competition shooters, and those individuals seeking hand crafted leather goods that afford maximum durability and appearance. Thanks for your support of law enforcement and the Texas Rangers.

Sincerely,

Andrew Carter, Sergeant
Texas Rangers – Co "A", Houston

Individual members of many law enforcement agencies, including the Texas Rangers have bought holsters, belts and accessories from Tucker Leather over the years. Like Ranger Drew Carter, famous for the "Railroad Killer" surrender several years ago, men who go to work every day with a gun on their hip want high quality, functional, good looking leather. They deserve the best and so do you. What can Tucker make for you?
